PROJECT

SMART DASHBOARD SYSTEM (FINAL YEAR PROJECT)

- My final year project was a web application developed using the MEAN stack (MongoDB, Express.js, Angular, and Node.js). The main goal of this project was to create an efficient and user-friendly system for both staff and students in a college setting.
- The system generates preferred modules for various departments and corresponding managements. It assigns roles to manage these modules, maintaining a hierarchy to avoid conflicts. This is essentially a college management system that uses secure authorization tokens for access control.
